NEW YORK VOTE MAY DETERMINE TAMMANY FATE

Gotham Electors at Polls Today In Mayoralty Primary

FIGHT WATCHED NATIONALLY, ALSO

Both LaGuardia, Copeland Are Confident Of Victory

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Tammany's fate as a political force may be determined today by the vote of 1,000,000 enrolled Republicans and Democrats in a mayoralty primary contest of extraordinary bitterness. The outcome of their election may also have far-reaching importance and national interest in both major parties.

There are three major candidates: Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusion, pro-New Deal incumbent, is a candidate for the Republican nomination. His opponent is United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, foe of many New Deal policies.

Senator Copeland is also, as the designee of Tammany, a candidate for the Democratic nomination, where his only opponent is Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A. A. U., choice of the four pro-New Deal Democratic borough leaders of the city (Tammany is restricted to Manhattan).

Norman Thomas is unopposed for the Socialist nomination.

Write-In Plan Reported

A last minute development was the sudden growth, admittedly in Tammany strongholds, of a movement to write in La Guardia's name on the Democratic ballots. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith in the windup speech in behalf of Copeland centered himself with an attack on the La Guardia administration for "high taxes" but made no mention of the Ku Klux Klan. Copeland campaign headquarters had announced he would discuss the subject but Smith said he had had no such intention.

The Klan was injected into the campaign by Copeland following renewed charges that Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black was a member of the order. The senator asserted Mahoney, as a New Dealer, was upholding the appointment of a member of the Klan to the bench. Mahoney retorted that Copeland had received Klan support in 1928. Copeland repudiated the Klan following the announcement of Imperial Hiram W. Evans that he approved Copeland's candidacy.

Each candidate confidently predicted his own election, and their supporters today produced the usual tables of figures to prove their claims of victory.

La Guardia Makes One Speech

La Guardia, pro-New Dealer and Liberal, confined his primary campaign to a single speech to Republican women in which he said he would not "beget" the Republican nomination and that he would

"Debate" Is Seen In Constitution Day Talks

Borah Leads Off Followed by President and Senator Vandenberg

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt and two staunch opponents of his judiciary reorganization program will engage in a three-sided discussion this week-end which may add new fuel to the nationwide controversy over the supreme court.

Each will give a speech inspired by the observance tomorrow of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

Borah Leads Off

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), long recognized as an authority on constitutional law, will lead off tonight at a Masonic meeting. President Roosevelt's address, which may hold the key to his future court policies, will be delivered at the base of the Washington monument tomorrow night. It will be the principal Constitution day rally.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) will round out the discussion with a speech Saturday at a Michigan political rally. His subject is "The Republican Challenge."

Although there was no advance indication that any of the speeches will be a direct rebuttal to the others, they will represent widely divergent viewpoints. Consequently Washingtonians were referring to them as a "debate" which may draw issues carrying over into the 1938 congressional elections.

Mr. Roosevelt still regards some reorganization of the supreme court as desirable and he may weave his views on the Constitution into a discourse on current judicial questions.

He put finishing touches on his address today. It is known that he has spent considerable time and thought on the speech, and most observers expect it to be an extremely important one.

Ku Klux Whets Interest

Whetting interest in all three addresses is current discussion over the alleged Ku Klux Klan membership of Justice Hugo L. Black, whom the President recently named to the only supreme court vacancy which has occurred during his administration.

Mr. Roosevelt has said he received no information from any source that Black was a Klansman prior to appointing the former Alabama senator.

It thus was not expected the executive's address would touch on that angle of the court dispute.

AWAIT DAVEY'S O. K. ON JURIES

Duffy and Aids Planning Probes In At Least Three Counties

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Only permission by Gov. Martin L. Davey remained today before Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy calls special grand juries in three counties to study the Ohio parole system.

The attorney general, submitting a report on his investigation, said he expected authority to be granted to call juries at Mansfield, location of the state reformatory for men; in Union county, site of the Marysville reformatory for women, and in Madison county, where the London prison farm is located. He also said he intended to call juries at Cleveland, Youngstown, Canton and possibly Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.

Springfield Case Cited

The report referred especially to the part allegedly played by three paroled convicts in a gun fight near Springfield Sept. 3, in which two Springfield officers were killed.

Henry Dingleline, paroled convict held in connection with the shooting, was indicted yesterday by the Shelby county grand jury on a

Frank Vogan, Steel Craftsman Here At One Time, Succumbs

Frank Vogan, Canton sculptor and one of the country's leading steel die craftsmen, died late Wednesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Raymond C. Burdick, at Huntington, Long Island.

Word of his death after a brief illness was received by his son, A. S. Vogan, of Canton.

Vogan was one of the most widely known artists of his time. The greater part of his life was spent in fashioning steel dies and he became recognized as one of America's leading pressed steel engineers.

For a period of years he was associated with the Berger Manufacturing Co. in Canton, and the Mullins plant here.

The funeral service will be held at the home of a sister, Mrs. Helen Blackburn, at Lisbon, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Boxer Sentenced

AKRON, Sept. 16.—William T. Hudson, 24, Cleveland boxer, was under sentence of one to 20 years in Mansfield reformatory today for the automobile theft of Edward H. Lashop, of Cuyahoga Falls, last spring.

Whetting interest in addresses of Senators Borah and Vandenberg and President Roosevelt on Constitution day topics, is the current discussion over the alleged Ku Klux Klan membership of Hugo L. Black, named to the supreme court by the President. Gov. Gibb Graves of Alabama also is reported to have received a life membership in the hooded order, but Imperial Wizard Dr. Hiram Evans says he knows nothing about any of it.

Cow Gives Birth To Entire Herd

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., — A Holstein cow at Pieter Poth's dairy is the mother of an entire herd of calves.

She gave birth to sextuplets nine days ago and all were reported physically perfect today.

Another Holstein and a Guernsey are helping out with the feeding problem.

Dr. H. O. Henderson of Morgantown, head of the department of dairy husbandry at West Virginia university, said he believed the multiple birth a record for the nation.

"WE'RE NEUTRAL" SHOUTS FARLEY

Administration Won't Interfere In Ohio, He Reasserts

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Contradicting published reports that Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic national committeeman, would enter the 1938 Ohio gubernatorial primary with support of the national administration, Democratic State Chairman Francis W. Poulson asserted today that he had "ample assurance" there would be no interference either by the administration or the national committee.

Poulson said Dennis Dunlavy, a member of the state utilities commission, quoted Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley as saying in a telephone conversation: "I have been shouting from the housetops that we have no intention of involving Washington in any Democratic gubernatorial primary—whether it be in Ohio or any other state."

Gov. Martin L. Davey has not announced whether he would seek a third term. Sawyer likewise has declined to commit himself publicly.

Poulson said Farley's statement "should be of interest to Democrats of Ohio concerning the real attitude of the national administration in state primary matters."

Leetonia Copeland Farm Walks Off With Championships

LISBON, Sept. 16.—An estimated crowd of 7,000 persons milled about the Columbiana county fairgrounds Wednesday on the first "big day" of the county's 82nd attraction.

The raise in admission price from 25 to 35 cents apparently didn't hinder attendance records.

The program last evening ended with a grand exhibition of horses and cattle in the ring, a circus act and a fireworks display.

Hundreds View Judging

Hundreds of persons were interested in the judging of horses and cattle yesterday. Honors included cash and ribbon awards.

In the horse division Harry Pollock of Dungannon received the grand championship over all breeds shown with his grey Percheron stallion, "Don Q."

Van Vorhis of Waynesburg, Stark county, was second with his three-year-old stallion, "King In Fola," weighing 1,850 pounds. He also won a "first" on a Belgian stallion, "Prince Deheons," a three-year-old weighing 1,900 pounds.

A. F. and A. D. Allen of Salem won first honors with an "age" stallion, "Dr. Gay II," weighing 2,100 pounds.

Wilbur Coy of Salem won another reserve grand championship with his two-year-old "Helen Randall," a 1,600-pound Belgian mare.

The judging in the horse event was by Frank L. Miller of Vanlev, O.

Copeland Cattle Win

In the cattle judging the Copeland farm of Leetonia walked off with two grand championships in the Guernsey cow division after winning 17 first places and 16 seconds.

H. B. Slagle of Poland won 21 "firsts" and three "seconds" in the Jersey group.

Charles Weikart of Leetonia was awarded 10 "firsts" and two "seconds" with his Holstein cows.

Fred G. Bruderly of Salem was the winner of eight first places in the Ayshire division as well as three "seconds."

A team of horses owned by Harry Dillon of Lisbon won the horse-pulling contest yesterday for draft horses weighing 3,000 pounds or under. Dillon's team dragged the 5,800-pound sled the farthest.

Today horses weighing more than 3,000 pounds will compete in a similar event.

BUMPER APPLE CROP REPORTED

Favorable Growing Conditions Boost State's Production

The mild weather of the past winter followed by splendid growing conditions this spring and summer with abundant rain and plenty of sunshine, is making for extra choice apples in all the splendid varieties grown throughout Ohio.

Growers throughout Ohio are expecting greater care than ever this year to pick, sort and pack this beautiful crop of Ohio apples, thus it may reach the consumer in the pink of condition.

The apple has long been called the "King of Fruits." It is produced and used in much larger quantities than any other fruit in this country. It is outstanding in its health values, rich in pectin which is so desirable for proper intestinal regulation. Apples contain iron, calcium, potassium, manganese and many elements so necessary for abundant health. They contain them in such forms as to admit of easy digestion and assimilation. Apples also contain vitamins A, B, C and E.

This year, the apple is receiving national attention with grower groups from coast to coast. In Ohio this year, the Ohio Apple Institute will have over 500 grower contributing members representing every fruit-growing county throughout the state.

Ohio apples are especially popular throughout Ohio as they reach the consumer quickly and with the minimum of handling.

This non-profit organization, the Ohio Apple Institute, has as its head H. L. Mantle of Painesville, president; L. B. Yapple of Chillicothe, vice president; W. D. Hilbish, Painesville, secretary; and W. B. Baughman of New Concord as treasurer, as well as the following important growers as members of the board: H. C. Neal of Cleveland; W. H. Matthews of Salem; Frank Farnsworth of Waterville; C. E. Dutton of Milford Center; H. H. Scarff of New Carlisle; R. R. Caldwell of Batavia.

CHARLES HEIM PERISHES WHEN CANOE UPSETS

Sister, Ethel, High School Teacher, Swims 100 Yards To Shore

CRAFT IS TIPPED BY GUST OF WIND

Salem Firemen Aid In Recovering Body of Victim

Tragedy marred what was intended to have been an enjoyable canoe ride on the waters of Guilford lake Wednesday evening.

Charles Heim, 34, a mechanical engineer of Lisbon, drowned while his sister, Ethel, a Lisbon High school teacher, managed to swim 100 yards to shore when their canoe upset at 5:30 p. m.

Body Recovered

Salem firemen, a policeman and a state highway patrolman recovered the body at 7:40 p. m. after dragging waters with grappling hooks for only 20 minutes.

They had motored to the lake, intending to enjoy a ride before darkness fell. Their craft was equipped with a small mast and sail and a sudden gust of wind is believed to have caused it to overturn.

Both hung onto the side of the canoe for a minute and then decided to try to swim to shore. They swam along together for a short distance and then the girl got ahead of her brother. When about 100 yards from shore she heard him cry for help and turned around to go to his aid.

He told her to go on, and she reached the land-exhausted. She looked back and her brother had disappeared. Several men from North Canton, fishing at the lake at the time, helped the girl to shore.

Firemen Respond

A call was put in at 6 o'clock for Salem firemen and Chief Vincent L. Malloy and Firemen Ted Vancot and Curtis Varian responded. A short while later Officer James Hassey and State Patrolman R. M. Perry went to the scene.

The men, aided by a Lisbon youth, manned two rowboats and dragged the spot where the man was reported to have gone down. At 7:40 they recovered the body.

It was found at a spot where the lake is 14 feet deep.

Heim, a graduate of Ohio Northern university, was born Aug. 8, 1903, the son of Adolph and Mary Bött Heim. He was employed in an engineering capacity with the National Brass & Copper Co., Lisbon.

Although he graduated from Ohio Northern in 1925, he attended Hiram college one year and University of Cincinnati two years. He was graduated in 1923 from Lisbon High school. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Besides his parents and his sister, Ethel, he leaves two brothers, Edward and Herbert, all residing at the home on Pritchard ave., Lisbon.

A private funeral service will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at the home, in charge of Rev. J. Morgan Cox. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call at the home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

Presbytery Plans Installation of Leetonia Minister

Rev. Robert J. Topping, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Leetonia since the first Sunday in June, will be formally installed as pastor of the church at a service conducted by the Mahoning Presbytery at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Sept. 24, at Leetonia.

Rev. Raymond D. Walter, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will preside. Rev. J. Morgan Cox, pastor of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon. Dr. Charles B. Boving, field secretary of the Presbyterian board of pensions with headquarters at Pittsburgh, will give the charge to the pastor-elect and Rev. John C. Struble, pastor of the Columbiana Presbyterian church, will give the charge to the congregation.

The church choir will give special music for the occasion. Rev. Topping's charge also includes that of the North Benton Presbyterian church and another installation service will be held there early in October.

Previously Rev. Topping served churches at Independence, Pa.; Sylvania and Charleston, W. Va.; Davenport, Ia. and served as a missionary in the coal regions of southern West Virginia.

WARNING TO BIGOTS

Disclosure that Hugo L. Black, recently appointed associate justice of the supreme court, joined the Ku Klux Klan Sept. 11, 1923, resigned July 19, 1925, and was made a life member Sept. 2, 1926, is important in direct ratio to the public's response to it.

Membership in an organization dedicated to racial and religious bigotry should disqualify a man from sitting on the supreme bench. This is not a question of legality, nor of politics. It is a question of ethics, a question of morals.

The people of the United States have had their troubles with bigotry in high places, including the supreme court. From their experiences they know it is a threat to good government. If, faced with the fact of bigotry in so important an instance as appointment of former Sen. Black to the supreme court, they should make it plain that they will not willingly be victimized, that would be a triumph for good government.

If, on the other hand, they were to remain passive in the face of proof that a man who has received an appointment to the supreme court had disqualified himself by membership in such an organization as the Ku Klux Klan, that would be a triumph for bigotry.

NO GRINDSTONE TURNING

Homer Martin, president of United Automobile Workers of America, is responsible for running one of the largest of the new C. I. O. unions.

He has declared without equivocation that he is not going to let the union be embarrassed by communists. Organizers with leftist axes to grind are going to have hard sledding in U. A. W., he promises.

This is refreshing realism. Unionists have been reluctant to admit that some of their organizations have been used for purposes which have nothing to do with collective bargaining, but have a great deal to do with the popular front movement by which revolutionary groups hope to gain control of the United States government.

They have played along, sometimes because they were helpless, sometimes because it seemed the reds in their midst were too important as organizers to be thrown out. President Martin's policy that U. A. W. is both able and willing to clean its own house will add to the public confidence honest trade unionism is trying to create.

REBELLIOUS DISPOSITION

Change is the great challenge to intelligence. The few who respond to it successfully win recognition and devotion. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, founder and first president of Czechoslovakia, was one of the few.

A "rebellious disposition" as a youth goaded him through the usual perils of reform and opposition to ultimate glory as one of the truly great statesmen and philosophers of his age.

It is unfortunate, but inevitable, that many more who were equally rebellious lacked ability to convert their dissatisfaction into useful accomplishment. Instead of statesmen and philosophers, they were crackpots, carpers, frustrated radicals and outcasts adding to the troubles of a confused world.

When science finally gets around to an attack on the problem of waste in politics, it will devise some way to make recognition of an occasional Masaryk automatic—as automatic as resistance to thousands of rebelliously disposed human beings everlastingly eager to accept the great challenge, but with no fighting equipment, except a loud mouth and a consuming lust for power.

In some respects boys of today are better than were boys a generation and more ago. It has been many years since we've seen a miserable dog dashing down the road trying to outrun a tin can tied to his tail.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, September 17

Very lively affairs, with much stirring in both private and business affiliations, are indicated by the lunar as well as mutual aspects of the ruling planets. It is probable that the commotion may be instigated by the sudden culmination of a romance, or other exciting denouement in the domestic, social, affectional or artistic life.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a lively and pleasant year, full of excitement, adventure and merriment. This may be due to a sudden climax in a romantic affiliation which may call for a hasty readjustment of all plans and objectives, as well as environs.

A child born on this day may be brilliantly versatile, talented, adventurous and ambitious, although very restless, fond of pleasure and youthful excitement. It may have an unusual career in some cultural line of endeavor.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—From Nyack up the Hudson the other day I motored along part of the delightful stretch of the Tappan Zee that Washington Irving so beglamoured. Still the flavor of revolutionary days. Especially at an old tavern at which we stopped.

A tavern that boasted the very table on which Washington signed away the life of Andre. Also the "original bar," which was doing middling well with trade. There was indeed a bit too much bluster in the presence of so much of yesterday—a presence really calling for bowed heads.

Too, I wandered among the old red and scabrous gravestones of a little white church, etched against a perfect sky. And noting the stones recorded the passing of innumerable octogenarians and there was the wonder if, after all, the doctors are lengthening life today.

Too, I talked to a sturdy young man on the roadside who said he was from Pleasantville and was on his way to Sneed's Landing. There was something poetic about those names. Names that a hurrying civilization should not allow to die. Like Dobbs Ferry, they suggest a simple life we may never know again.

The screen is never so disillusioning for the popular star as is the legitimate theatre. The cinema art of make-up can keep a star at pulchritudinous par for years. But the footlights, no matter the artifices, reveal all. I saw a glamorous stage star after ten years the other night. In spite of the beauty parlors and such, she had moved on to a certain autumn quietude. She tried to be kittenish and express the old come-thither, but it wouldn't jell. Ladies rarely learn Nature's lesson from the plum thicket that blooms at the roadside and the dried leaves that stir in the November winds and the aches and pains of the Old People's Home. That lesson is that the Sweet Sixteen role can be played but once and briefly in the drama of life. It cannot be carried through the years.

Joe Moore, newspaper and magazine publisher, who passed on a month or so ago, had what many regarded as the town's most contagious laugh. He was of enormous build, and when his round moon-face rippled into a setting for a roaring guffaw no one in the neighborhood could keep a straight face. He had a roar that shook the rafters and often touched off a solemn dining room in a whoop. Moore died exactly as he wished. He often said he would like to go out just like falling to sleep after enjoying a full meal. He had dined sumptuously at one of his favorite restaurants and was descending to the street when he slumped on the stairs, expiring before a doctor in the place could reach him.

Booth Tarkington is one of the few top flight writers able to check writing for several years, return to it and turn out stuff as good as ever. His failing eyesight, now almost normal, has on three occasions kept him from writing for long periods. During these convalescences he never wrote a line, but in each case when he started again editors declared he was just as capable in plotting, character delineation and dialogue as ever. He is brushing the 70's.

Theodore Roosevelt was said to be swiftest of readers among laymen. He could scan an entire page almost at a glance, although his eyes were weak and he had to wear heavy-lensed glasses. Chief Justice Holmes was able to digest a typewritten page as others read five or six lines. Most magazine editors are block readers. Harry Burton can rifle through a manuscript while talking to the author, and intelligently discuss the plot.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

RINGWORM

Ringworm of the foot, or "athlete's foot," as it is more commonly called, has become a universal affliction. According to a recent bulletin of the United States public health service, more than half of the adult population suffer from this condition.

Ringworm of the foot, like all other forms of this affliction, is caused by a fungus known as "trichophyton." When this comes in contact with the skin it causes an inflammation, giving a very big name—"dermatomycosis trichophytina." The disease may involve any part of the body, but is most common on the face, hands and feet, as well as the soles of the feet and between the toes.

During the summer months it is especially prevalent because at that time of the year many persons walk barefooted. It may be contracted at the beach, in a country club, a shower bath or even from your own bedroom floor.

Highly Contagious

The parasites burrow into small abrasions in the skin. At first the victim notices peeling and softening of the skin. This symptom is followed by redness, appearing in the beginning as a flat, reddish spot, which soon enlarges. The reddened area becomes more deeply colored in the center, forming a characteristic signet-ring like appearance.

In time the center of the ring fades; it becomes pale pink and gradually assumes the color of the adjacent skin. Although the first ring-like appearance fades after several weeks, another appears on a different part of the body.

Ringworm is highly contagious. It is easily spread from one person to another. To prevent the infection keep the feet dry and change the stockings daily. This is especially advised during strenuous exercises with marked perspiration of the feet. It is well to avoid wearing shoes or "sneaks" that heat the feet or keep them continually moist. Foot authorities recommend that if you must stand at work, keep your feet cool by standing on a cork mat. Also they advise the wearing of ventilated shoes or very lightweight leather in order that the feet may be air-conditioned.

Do not rely upon self-medication. If you suspect that you have athlete's foot, see your doctor immediately.

HOW OFTEN CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?

FEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Cleveland Police Break Up Robbery

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—Police captured three robbers today as they ate breakfast with their victim, Fred L. Rahal, 26, president of the Sunshine Packing Corp. of Cleveland and Louisiana.

Rahal said he stopped his auto to watch a street fight and picked up a woman at the scene to drive her down town. A few blocks further on two men held him up. The woman jumped out of the car and ran away.
The men took a watch and ring which he said were keepsakes, along with $28. He offered to get the robbers $100 if they would return the jewelry. They agreed.

Rahal went to a hotel and cashed a check for $100 and at the same time slipped the hotel clerk a note saying he was being kidnapped and robbed.
The clerk notified police. A taxi driver heard the police radio broadcast and called them when he observed Rahal's big car in a district noted for its underworld haunts.

A third man had joined the robbers and an argument over the loot was under way when a police squad found them in a restaurant.

Defends Regulation of Market

Landis at press conference

Answering "complaints" that federal regulation of trading had slowed down stock market activity, James M. Landis, retiring chairman of the securities and exchange commission, denied that extensive stock market speculation makes for either stability or liquidity.
Directing his remarks a rebuttal against charges of Charles Gay,
New York Stock Exchange head, Landis told his final press conference that the real cushion for the market was provided by the mass of investors throughout the country and not by short-term speculators. Successor to Landis, who becomes dean of Harvard law school, has not been named.

19 Bombing Planes For Chinese Army

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 16.—A crew of 12 longshoremen started unloading the 19 bombing planes from the China-bound freighter Wichita to a three hundred ton barge in the outer harbor here today.

What disposition would be made of the planes—whether they would be stored here or loaded on another ship bound for the Orient—could not be immediately determined.

The Wichita dropped anchor in the roadstead just inside the breakwater and several miles from port last night. A fueling barge was sent fast last night but whether the vessel had been refused to continue its journey from New York was not learned.

Gun Wielder Sought

MARTINS FERRY, Sept. 16.— Albert Lynn, 22, still was sought today as the assailant of a girl and her parents, although Sheriff Howard Duffy and 12 deputies thought for a time that they had him cornered in an abandoned coal mine.
The posse, finding footprints and a gun at the mine entrance, threw in tear gas bombs and then searched the mine, but without finding Lynn. The girl and her parents were wounded by gunfire.

Assistant Attorney General's Probe In Gang Death At End

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 16.—Although state investigators said they are dropping their probe of the murder of Roy "Happy" Marino, gambler who was slain here last week, Police Chief Elbert Megaw of Wheeling, W. Va., arrived today, believing the slaying is connected with that of Mike Russell, Wheeling lottery operator, there Aug. 25.
George Hurley, assistant attorney general, and his aids who came here on orders of Attorney General Herbert Duffy, said they were leaving today, satisfied that Marino's death had no connection with the investigation of the state parole system.

Flames Raze Drug Plant In New Jersey

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Sept. 16.—
Police and fire officials, seeking a cause for the explosions and resulting fire that almost completely destroyed a two-story drug plant, and injured 75 persons, began separate investigations today as firemen sought possible victims in the smoldering ruins.

The firemen, three of them overcome by smoke and heat, were among the 75 persons treated at two hospitals and first aid stations last night at the height of the spectacular blaze at the S. B. Pen-ick and Company factory.

Police estimated damage "between $200,000 and $250,000," and C. W. Speed, treasurer of the company, said the loss would "run well into six figures, anywhere from $100,000 to $1,000,000."

The fire, Acting Police Chief Michael Lyons said, began after an explosion which was "quickly followed by several more."

Mentally Ill Youth Blamed In Slaying

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—Police today claimed a complete solution of the killing of Miss Pauline Regal with the arrest of a 16-year-old mentally unbalanced youth who escaped from a hospital shortly before the 40-year-old spinster was found slain in bed.

Chief of Detectives Henry W. Piel said the youth, Robert Pawlowski, had confessed the slaying.

Piel said Pawlowski admitted entering the attractive brunette's bedroom early yesterday morning, taking 60 cents from her purse and hitting her over the head with an iron stake when she turned over in bed and appeared to be awakening.
Mrs. Gerald Burke, mother of the youth, said he had not been normal since he was struck by an automobile at the age of five.

Assistant Prosecutor Allan J.
Asam said he would seek a warrant charging first degree murder as soon as he could get juvenile court authorities to waive jurisdiction in the case.

Subway Troubadour Becomes Too Ardent

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—It was bad enough when a subway troubadour crooned love songs in Elizabeth Smith's ear, but when he turned cave man—well!

Miss Smith, 32, said the wandering minstrel, Thomas Diangelo, 23, a salesman, began singing the love lyrics shortly after the subway train pulled out of the Coney Island station.

"I'm in the moo-oo-ood for love," sang Diangelo.

Mattern Reports

Jimmy Mattern, noted American flier, is shown leaving the Soviet Embassy in Washington after reporting on his search for six Soviet airmen lost in the Arctic. Mattern searched the polar wastes for seventeen days in a vain attempt to locate the men, who disappeared on a Moscow-U. S. flight over the North Pole.

Miss Smith, with a haunted look,
left the train at the first station.
Diangelo, she said, followed her.

"Me, myself and I are all in love with you-oo-oo," he sang.

"Please!" objected Miss Smith.
Then, she said, her unsought troubadour stopped singing and struck her on the jaw. A policeman took him to court.

"Was his singing any good?"
asked Magistrate William O'Dwyer.
"No," said Miss Smith, positively.
"It was not."

The magistrate held Diangelo under $500 bail on an assault charge.

campaign solely on a platform of "honest, efficient municipal government."

A crushing Tammany defeat in this election, in the view of some political experts, might mean the end of Tammany. In the past hundred years or so since Tammany first gained political control of the city, the tiger has lost it about once in a generation to a "reform" mayor, La Guardia. In the past, however, Tammany has merely bided her time, for no "reform" mayor has lasted more than one term. If La Guardia is re-elected, he will set a record.

But Tammany suffered doubly this time because not only was there no local patronage, but the Democratic national administration withheld patronage, too, and a revolt brewed.

Polls open here at 3 p. m. and close at 10, between which hours no liquor will be sold. Police have received drastic warning to preserve order and prevent intimidation. Election results are expected to be late because paper ballots, and not voting machines, will be used.

charge of robbing Dr. C. C. Hussey of Sidney.

His father, Harry Dingleline, charged with murder, was reported seen Tuesday near Wapakoneta but authorities were unable to find him after James Kammer, a filling station attendant, said he believed Dingleline stopped for water.

Confirms Duffy's Report
Former Mayor Fred G. Gray of Springfield confirmed Duffy's report that Gray wrote a letter in 1935 recommending a parole for the younger Dingleline. He said two friends assured him they would see that Dingleline would "go straight."

"But I guess he didn't," Gray commented. As a facet to parole study, investigators of the division of probation and parole returned Arthur Burkhardt, Hancock county bank robber, to the penitentiary when they found that Burkhardt, given a sick parole nearly four years ago, had been working part time on a WPA project.

Madeline's Spanish Journey Is Halted

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Madeline La Ferriere, who shot the Count De Chambrun because, she said, he told about her love for "my Benito" Mussolini, tried to go to Spain today. But the police wouldn't let her.

The former newspaper writer was found trudging along a mountain path near the frontier. She had no passport and police turned her around the other way, away from the land of civil war.

Mme. La Ferriere was given a suspended sentence and a small fine here on July 29 for shooting De Chambrun, former ambassador to Italy, at the Gare Du Nord last spring. She said she did it because De Chambrun betrayed her confidences and broke up her friendship with Il Duce in Rome. The count got well.

Leipper Lands Big Marlin In Pacific

Landing a nine-and-a-half foot marlin after an hour and twenty-five minutes' battle was the recent accomplishment of Eugene D. Leipper of San Diego, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leipper of 718 East Third st.

The fish, which weighed 135 pounds, was caught in the Pacific ocean, seven miles off shore. It was the first marlin Leipper had ever seen, let alone land.

He was fishing with two companions in a boat used at times by Bing Crosby, Andy Devine, Fred Stone and several other movie stars when he made the catch.

Leipper and his friends also caught several "fish dolphins," which are rarely seen.

Basil Rathbone and Marion Claire in "Make a Wish" showing at the State Friday and Saturday

Bobby Breen, singer-protégé of Eddie Cantor, will be seen with Basil Rathbone and Marion Claire in "Make a Wish," at the State theater Friday and Saturday.

"Confession," starring Kay Francis, concludes tonight at the State.

Romantic Role for Rathbone
Henry Armetta, Ralph Forbes, Leon Errol, Donald Meek, Herbert Rawlinson and Leonid Kinskey are seen in supporting roles in "Make a Wish."

Rathbone has his first romantic screen role, playing opposite Marion Claire, stage star, who is seen as Bobby's mother.

In the story, Bobby, newly arrived at a boys' camp, forms a fast friendship with Rathbone, as a composer, who enjoys the company of the lad because he himself has missed his own boyhood. Through Bobby's letters from his young mother, Miss Claire, Rathbone becomes so interested in her that she gradually becomes the inspiration for his operetta.

When she arrives at the camp accompanied by her overbearing fiancée, Forbes, friction develops between the two men, especially when Rathbone urges Miss Claire to play the leading role in his musical play. Later a serious disagreement brings about the sudden disappearance of the composer.

The last act of his operetta is almost lost before it reaches the producer, and three slightly mad amateur song writers endeavor to substitute their own music, in order to

Youngstown School Girl Is Attacked

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 16.—Police and authorities of East High school today sought a Negro youth about 19 who was said to have attacked a 17-year-old girl in a thicket near the school, yesterday afternoon.

The girl told police she was seized as she followed a path used by students through the woods near the school.

Hollywood Tony Sets Pace In 2:16 Trot At Lisbon To Nose Out Wellsville Entry

New Castle Horse Wins In Extra Heat Run-Off In Fair's Most Exciting Race

LISBON, Sept. 16. — Hollywood Tony, owned and driven by J. R. Rick of New Castle, Pa., won the loving cup and the lion's share of the $300 purse in the 2:16 trot, most closely contested of three races at the Columbiana County fair Wednesday afternoon.

The horse beat McScott, a brown gelding belonging to L. C. Anderson of Wellsville, in a run-off for first place after three previous heats had resulted in a tie.

The third entry, a black mare, Retta McIlwain, belonging also to Mr. Rick, was withdrawn prior to the run-off. The time was 2:20.7.

In the first heat of the event McScott was the winner over a field of six horses. The time of this heat was 2:16.5.

The time of the second heat, won by Retta McIlwain, was 2:13.5. Hollywood Tony won the third heat in 2:14.7.

Calamant Dawn, owned by Dr. Albert Barber of New Middletown, won the 2:24 trot, taking two out of three heats. Time on the first heat was 2:18.3 and on the second 2:19. The third heat in the race went to a black gelding owned by Miss Jean Overmyer of Monroeville, named My Boy.

In the 2:19 pace Abbelusa, driven by Byron Wilson and owned by May Calley of Wellington, was undisputed winner, taking each of the three heats. The time was 2:14.5 for the first heat, 2:13.3 for the second, and 2:14.3 for the third.

Ia Guy, owned by Mrs. Minnie Hines of Kinsman, was second in two of the three heats.

George E. Pyle of Cleveland was the starter for the races. George Rogers of Lisbon was in charge of the program.

A number of fans took advantage of the pari-mutual windows, placing bets for the second time in Columbiana county fair history.

BLOCKING POOR ON OFFENSIVE IN SCRIMMAGE

Schroeder Pleased With Showing of Defensive Team

Itching for some type of collective action, two teams of Salem high school gridders received their first chance to rough it up yesterday as Coach Carl Schroeder put them through a light scrimmage session at Centennial park.

A number of the gridders are nursing bruises and bumps as a result of the action, but the majority of them came through the workout without any tell-tale marks.

The scrimmage was mainly for timing new plays against a defense and was not planned as a test of the varsity caliber of the some 50 players who are taking part in the Quakers' daily pre-season practices at the park.

Schroeder announced today that another of the scrimmage sessions is scheduled for tomorrow night, but that no scrimmage will be held today because members of the squad are to take doctor's examinations.

Although plainly dissatisfied with the blocking and play-running of the offensive team in yesterday's drill, Schroeder appeared pleased with the showing made by the defensive team, composed of several reserves from last season and a number of new gridders.

The offensive team, which included all of last year's lettermen, was repeatedly thrown for losses by the defensive squad and failed to make any substantial gains throughout the drill.

The most evident weakness in offensive play was the missing of blocks by players on this team. To some extent this may be attributed to early season inexperience, but in most cases it was out and out failure by offensive players to put a good block on opposing gridders.

At the start of the scrimmage, all of the offensive gridders tore into the action with drive galore, but after several plays had been run a number of them went at the blocking in half-hearted fashion.

It was undoubtedly the desire to show up the offensive team which made the defensive squad perform best in the scrimmage. Standing out on the defensive team was the play of Mike Guappone and Dave Cope.

Guappone was making about half the tackles for the defensive team and outplayed by a wide margin his offensive opponents. He was playing at a guard post and at no time did the offensive team open a hole in the line at his position.

Cope, who weighs 200 pounds, was practically unmovable at a defensive tackle post and broke through several times to stop plays behind the line of scrimmage. His play merits exceptional consideration considering the fact that this is his first year out for football.

Ole Olexa, backfield veteran from last year's team, looked best on the offensive team, showing plenty of drive in line plunging and blocking hard for a teammate when he was not toting the ball.

Schroeder is counting on Olexa as one of his leading backfield men for the coming season, opening Friday night, Sept. 24 at Reilly stadium with Sebring as his first opponent.

Louis Fans 4 Times

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16. — Joe Louis, the heavyweight boxing king, struck out four times and committed three errors here last night, but his Detroit Bombers softball team trounced an Indianapolis aggregation (Shaw's Market) 7 to 3. Louis played eight innings.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

THE REDS already have decided on their 1938 manager, but will not name him until after the world's series. . . . (Don't be surprised if he comes from the minors.) . . . Chicago's stadium may get a John Henry Lewis-Tommy Parr match this winter. . . . When the U. S. L. T. A.'s ranking committee sits itself down in December it likely will rate Don Budge, Bobby Riggs, Frankie Parker and Bryan Grant, Jr. in that order. . . . Mrs. James J. Braddock doesn't want her Jim to fight Max Baer Oct. 29 because one of Jim's ears, banged up in the Louis fight, isn't completely mended.

Believe-it-or-not Department: Umpire Mart Cleary of the New York-Penn. league retains his amateur standing by working for nothing. . . . Every salary check is passed on to charity. . . . But when he has an off day the Wolves give him the works just like they do the pros. . . .

Comic Page: James J. Johnston, soon to be aired at Madison Square Garden, will name his new fight club the Thirtieth Century Athletic club "because it will be a thousand years ahead of the other crowd."

He could have called it the Twenty-first Century Athletic club and still have been 100 years to the good. . . . If the Giants get into the world series, highest paid player will be Ed Madjeski, bull pen catcher. . . . Ed has caught only nine innings this season. . . . But on a basis of $5,000 cut he would collect about $555.55 for each inning's work. . . . Joe McCarthy avers the Yankees are no better than even money in the world series, no matter whom they meet, and solemnly adds: "If we make it."

More Needs: Looks like a couple of guys named Joe Medwick and DiMaggio have the most valuable player awards all sewed up this year. . . . Jimmy Johnston's new headquarters will be in the Paramount theater building. . . . Is Jimmy Wilson of the Phils figeting? . . . And if so, is it because he's afraid he'll be out in the cold or is he just in a hurry to get to Cincinnati? . . . Coach Tiny Thornhill has his Stanford squad drilling in private. . . . Out in Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday, John Henry Lewis surprised his old mother by ushering her into a brand new home, modernly furnished and equipped and everything paid for.

Bottom of the Barrel: Tommy Parr, off on an exhibition tour of Canada, saw his first wrestling match the other night and laughed his head off at the antics of the burpers. . . . Davidson college has a new play called the "Big Apple." . . . Freddie Steele made the 13th defense of his title against Ken Overlin last week, but in Freddie's book it still is the 12th. . . . He thinks 13 is unlucky.

LIST 12 TEAMS IN QUAKER CITY BOWLING LOOP

Bill Wagoner Is Elected President of League at Grate Alleys

Combining nine new teams with three outfits from last season's Quaker City league, a second 12-team handicap bowling league was organized at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The 12 teams in the league, which will use the name Quaker City for the 1937-38 season, are: Pure Oils, Mullins Evaporators, Salem Motor, Tigers, Five Wonders, Colonial Billiards, Economy V-8's; East End team, Harris Garage, Bingville Blues, Althouse Motors and an unnamed Mullins team captained by Mike Schuller.

The Pure Oils, Tigers and Economy V-8's were members of the six-team Quaker City league of last season. Harris Garage was originally affiliated with the Commercial circuit for this season, but changed over to the Quaker City in order to permit the People's Lumber to join the Commercial loop.

The league will bowl on Monday nights, opening its season Sept. 20. The price of bowling will be 65 cents, including five cents for the "kitty". A $5 entry fee will be charged each team. This is to be paid no later than Sept. 27.

Bill Wagoner was named president of the league, while Francis Strader was chosen secretary-treasurer. Strader was secretary-treasurer of the Quaker City loop last season. The league agreed to pay for all of Strader's league bowling for his work.

The same handicap regulation which was passed by the Commercial league was adopted by the Quaker City circuit. This allows teams a 60 per cent handicap, based on the difference between running averages compiled weekly. Team averages shall be based on individual performance according to this system.

A rule applying to substitutes, which was favorably acted upon, declares that no substitutions may be made, after a man has rolled his first ball in a game, without the consent of the opposing team captain.

In providing a rule for teams appearing late for their first game, the league voted to allow teams to roll their second and third games after forfeiting the first.

Teams wishing to postpone games must notify either the opposing team captain, league secretary or alley management by 1 p. m. of the day the match is to be rolled, it was decided.

Other rules adopted included limiting teams to seven men and allowing only one blind score.

Undecided On Team

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Coach Russ Cohen sent two squads against his University of Cincinnati frosh team yesterday and when the workout was over he still was undecided which team he would send against Morehead State Teachers' college of Kentucky Saturday.

GILES PONDER'S OVER REDS JOB

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16. — General Manager Warren C. Giles' problems over candidates for the Cincinnati Reds managerial post left vacant by the release of Charlie Drensen were complicated today by a pile of applications ranging from an 18-year-old boy to a man in Canada who was confident he could pull the Rhinelanders out of the coal hole.

Giles said a youth from New York had written that "from a business standpoint it would be a ten-strike to have an 18-year-old youngster to head the team."

Diamond veterans who applied included Herman Bell, one-time big league hurler, Jim Bottomley, former redleg, and Max Carey, former Brooklyn pilot. Giles also had bids from a man identified as a Mr. Edwards of Kingston, Ont., and a Mr. Holler of Dayton, O.

Wisconsin's varsity looked spotted in an offensive scrimmage, but managed five touchdowns, three of them by Ralph Moeller, 195-pound halfback. Chicago's reserve material was depleted when Bert Warshaw, a 220-pound guard, who transferred from a junior college, was declared ineligible for not having put in a year of residence.

Coach Elmer Layden scouted his sophomores and non-letter winners for varsity possibilities at Notre Dame.

SCHMIDT PLANS TO FOOL FIRST GAME OPPONENT

Ohio State Coach Preps On New Tricks For T. C. U. Frogs

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Francis A. Schmidt, who taught the "razzle dazzle" style of football offense at Texas Christian before he brought it to Ohio State, is cooking up a new lesson in trickery for the Texans.

The lesson will be ready by Sept. 25 when Texas Christian goes to Ohio State for the Buckeyes' opening game of the season. Knowing the boys from the great southwest are familiar with the razzle dazzle as he taught it in Texas, Schmidt is priming his men with variations which he hopes will fool an exceptionally strong opening-day opponent.

Nick Wasylik, a halfback by trade, probably will be the head man of the Buckeye attack. Schmidt has assigned him to the duty of calling signals from his position, the double duty having been necessary by the death of Bill Booth and ineligibility of others on whom Schmidt had counted.

Minnesota's Gophers held another touchdown parade yesterday, the varsity romping through a mixture of third and fourth stringers for seven scores. Wilbur Moore, a right halfback, was the standout, getting away for four touchdowns runs of 40 yards or more. At Illinois, Bob Zuppke's selected squad of 22 men engaged in a 30-minute scrimmage that resulted in three touchdowns for the regulars.

Michigan and Northwestern concentrated on aerial offensive maneuvers and Indiana spent a session on pass defense. Captain Don Heap, Bernie Jefferson and Jack Ryan did some accurate passing for the defending champion Wildcats, while Starke Ritchie and Norman Purucker handled the bulk of the tossing for the Michigans.

Coach Bo McMillin decided to get an early start on developing Indiana's air defense, remembering that all but one of the touchdowns scored against the Hoosiers in 1936 was accomplished by passes.

Purdue teams went through long scrimmage, with Tony Juska, junior fullback, again attracting Coach Elmer Layden's attention. Iowa whipped through its first scrimmage with Coach Irl Tubbs using a backfield composed of Nile Kinnick, Al Schenk, Buss Dean and Muehl, the latter the only veteran.

Wisconsin's varsity looked spotted in an offensive scrimmage, but managed five touchdowns, three of them by Ralph Moeller, 195-pound halfback. Chicago's reserve material was depleted when Bert Warshaw, a 220-pound guard, who transferred from a junior college, was declared ineligible for not having put in a year of residence.

Traffic on busy streets is measured in millions of car-miles annually—and millions of car stops. Can you make these stops swiftly, surely, with least possible skidding?

You can if your streets are concrete. Concrete's gritty surface grips and holds tires, offers maximum traction in any weather. Its uniform riding surface gives you driving confidence—a further safety aid. And at night, concrete's light-gray, highly visible color makes your streets safer for motorist and pedestrian alike.

For economy, for good appearance—and for safety—insist on concrete.

THE GUMPS—MOSELLE IS A MINDREADER

BRINGING UP FATHER

"THE CAPTIVE BRIDE"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER XLVII
A slight sound diverted her and drew her gaze to the hall entrance. Van Cleve had come noiselessly downstairs and was crossing the shadowy living room. "Oh," he said, becoming aware of her presence, "I thought the place was deserted. Do you mind if I stay here a while? Somehow, I can't sleep tonight."

"Of course not, Van. I'm glad to have company."
She straightened to a half-sitting position among the cushions, while he drew a hassock beside the couch, and sat on it facing her, his arms about his knees. "I wonder how the Commander found that old patient of his," he said, his brooding gaze on the fire.

"Why didn't you go with him, Van?"
"I always go with him, in my mind," he burst out. "That's the worst of it. But in reality—God, Denny! Don't you understand. I don't dare go with him. What if I came on a case that demanded an immediate operation? I, with my operating hand crippled!" He thrust the member out, palm upturned. "Look at it—nearly seven months since it happened. I don't even try to bring my fingers together any more. I haven't for over a month. I've lost hope, Denny. I—I" He buried his face in his hands.

"Oh, Van! I'm sorry. I didn't mean to hurt you." She touched his shoulder gently.

He reached back, clutched her hand, and brought it forward, holding it tightly against his cheek. It was a gesture so young, so forlorn, that Denny's heart melted with pity. But she could find no words to comfort him. They sat in silence broken only by the fall of ashes in the grate.

After what seemed a long while, his tense hold began to relax. He moved his head and presently, very softly, began to press his lips to the inside of her wrist. When she tried to disengage her fingers, he held to them, looking up with eyes that were suddenly radiant in the dusk. "Denny, Denny," he said brokenly; and slipping to his knees, he put an arm under her and drew her unresisting form against his heart.

She sighed and adjusted her face to the hollow of his shoulder. Darkness, warmth, and an impersonal peace flowed over her. "Darling, you know what's happened to me. You must have seen it. His voice murmuring against her ear grew ardent, hungry. "I love you. Against my will I've been loving you for months. I know you never were happy here. I've seen—I've overheard things. Let's go away together, Denny. From this land—from America. I want you—want you for my wife."

She lay for a moment feeling the ineffable comfort of knowing that, after months of isolation, months of being uncared for, some one loved her, desired her. Then she began thinking. "But I shouldn't listen to him. It isn't fair. I should stop him—get away from him."

But when she stirred slightly, his arms tightened about her. "Don't leave me," he pleaded. "Listen, sweetheart—we've gone through this awful winter together. We know the worst and the best of each other. We'd make a success of marriage.... But don't answer me now, darling. Think it over until tomorrow night. I'll come here then for my answer after the others have gone upstairs. And if you say 'yes'—it must be 'yes,' Denny, because I love you so—I'll go to Rev and tell him how it is with us. Somehow, I don't think he'll mind since—well, I've known since Christmas that you intended getting a divorce."

Denny thought, with sudden bitterness. "No, he won't mind." And then several things flashed through mind: Here was the means to retaliate against Bourne and Rio—if she cared to take it. A means that also opened the way for everything she had heretofore valued. A husband of her own world. A husband financially able to take her anywhere—new lands, new experiences. She admired and respected him. He loved her. He was very appealing and lonely, and it would not be difficult to love him, after a while. Why not marry him as soon as she was free?

Something checked her. Something that seemed to speak dimly, yet commandingly. She tensed, listening.

Through the open window came a sound like the deep reverberating roll of a distant drum. An instant later a hasty, imperative knocking on the back door brought them both to their feet. They exchanged a startled, wondering look.

Denny went out into the kitchen to answer the summons.

A panting Indian runner stood outside the door. "Miss Bourne! You tellum Captain! She come—the break-up!"

For a moment Denny stood very still, his head lifted. On the quiet night air she could hear it—dim and deep and unmistakable—the voice that had called her. The voice of the awakening Stikine.

A pricking thrill of response ran through her. She wheeled about and ran through the living room toward the staircase.

"Van!" she sang out, without stopping. "The ice is going out!"

She took the stairs two at a time and raced down the hall toward Bourne's room. "Revel! Revel!" She pounded on his door. "The river! I heard it! Oh, Revel! At last—the river's breaking!"

Under the pale green pallor of the moon the valley lay shadowed, mysterious; and through it wound the Stikine, unchanged, so far as Denny could see, as she stood on the bank in the hurriedly gathering crowd. The village slope back of her was astir with whites and Indians pouring from their cabins. Their glad, clarion calls, mingling with the howls of a hundred aroused wolf dogs, crisscrossed and blended through the night.

"R-i-v-e-r's breaking! R-i-v-e-r's breaking!"

High above all rode deep, intermittent waves of sound—the river voice rolling down, wind-swift, out of the North.

The river under the ice, awake at last—mighty, restless, making ready to burst its bonds.

Denny waited, oblivious to everything but the drama of it, until she was aroused by Bourne's touch on her arm. He drew her a little apart from the throng to a point of vantage where Van Cleve was standing. For a moment her mind dwelt on the poignant circumstance of her position here between the man who was her husband and the man who—might be. Then she heard Bourne's voice, half serious, half laughing: "Denny and Van—this is your night of initiation. In a few minutes both of you will be 'sourdoughs.' You will have seen the ice come and go on the river, and neither of you will ever be the same again."

"Why?" asked Denny.

"Because she will always hold you after this—the Stikine. No matter where you go, you will long to come back to her. Or so they say."

Van Cleve smiled a bit contemptuously, but before he could speak, the valley resounded to a prolonged, avalanche-like roar. All the way from the cliff down to Lonewater the frozen river began to heave with a leisurely, awesome strength, like that of a Frankenstein quickening into life; gently at first, then with jerks and detonations like cannon fire. Suddenly the entire white surface was broken into segments like a giant jigsaw puzzle, and dark water boiled up between. With the deliberate action of a slowed moving picture, the cakes began to slide downstream—thousands of huge, glittering blocks lazily tilting up on edges; crawling over one another; climbing one another's backs to heights of ten, twenty feet; and crashing down to begin all over again.

The Stikine was again a flowing road, along which a horde of fantastic shapes reared and leaped in the moonlight, filling the valley with their exultant cries as they began their journey to the sea. Denny watched, awed by the tremendous spectacle of continuous motion.

The silk scarf, tied loosely about her throat, whipped free in the wind and slid off. It was floating past Van Cleve when, with his eyes still held by the out-going ice, he instinctively darted a hand to catch it.

She swung about to thank him, but was stopped by the look on his face. He was staring transfixed at his still extended arm, his eyes wide with wonder and dawning exultation. Her heart leaped as she perceived the reason. A single fold of the fluttering silk was held firmly between the thumb and last two fingers of his right hand—his operating hand!

Like a man in a dream, he laid hold of the scarf with his left hand, but continued to open and shut the fingers of his right upon the silk. "God!... God!" His shaking voice was barely audible amid the roar and ring of outgoing ice. "I can't believe it!.... I must find out if it's true!"

He wheeled, and without a word to any one, started at a half-run up the road toward River House, still holding the waving scarf.

Denny touched Bourne's arm. "Did you see how Van—?" But it was apparent that he had not seen, for he was gazing down stream with that concentrated "white-water" look she knew well.

As Denny's gaze followed Bourne's, she felt her life stream quickening, synchronizing with the wild, free current of this northern stream her father had loved. This river whose every change had proved significant with Fate for the daughter of Larry Keith.

For three days the Stikine was a swift, yellow flood, thick with sediment and grinding ice.

Harp, with a small crew, had been making minor repairs to the dock below the Hudson's Bay store. On the afternoon the last piling was placed, he dismissed his men and called on Honeyjo.

"The dock's finished, thank heaven!" He dropped into a chair with an explosive sigh of relief. "Now, if the skipper can get the Maid floated tomorrow, maybe we can begin to go places."

"Draw up, Harp. Here's a deep-apple pie I made specially for you, with crispy edges."

Harp's face lightened and he advanced to the table, stepping high and rubbing a hand across his waistline. "Doggone! I really believe you love me, after all, Baby!"

Honeyjo ignored this remark and poured two cups of coffee. "The doctor's finishing his packing today," she volunteered. "He's all set to take the first boat down-river."

"Yes, He's hell-bent to get out to some round-up of medicos by the first of June. Never saw anything like the change in that guy since he found he could use his bum hand a little. Singing, making jokes, and just eating up those doctor magazines Rev had sent in to him all winter—paying first-class postage on 'em too. I wonder if Doc knows who's responsible for that."

"I told him the other day. He was that grateful I thought he was going to bust right out crying."
